

Genetic counseling post-test healthcare provider acknowledgement

I understand that Sequenom Laboratories offers telephonic genetic counseling for patients interested in discussing the results of a Sequenom Laboratories test. This discussion will include the implications of a positive (or high risk score) test result to the patient. The genetic counselor will not review a patient's personal or family history if it is not related to the Sequenom Laboratories testing. Additionally, the genetic counselor will not have access to the patient's prenatal medical records (including but not limited to ultrasound reports, serum screen results, etc.). The genetic counselor may discuss recommendations based on the Sequenom Laboratories test result, including but not limited to followup diagnostic testing and/or carrier testing for the partner. The genetic counselor will not provide any followup or scheduling of next steps, as this should be coordinated by the patient or healthcare provider. The decision regarding any next steps, such as additional testing, is entirely up to the patient.

I agree and acknowledge that a genetic counselor from Sequenom Laboratories may contact my patient interested in discussing their test result.
